However, in a rather surprising event that followed, an apparent emergency sparked a wildfire that swallowed several city blocks. The fire burned three blocks of the city, beginning on Macdonald St and lasting for about five hours. A Penticton RCMP officer said, "I've been on scene for the last three hours. Right now our resources are being pulled in from around southern Alberta and southern British Columbia." The officer also said, "We don't know if they need resources from municipal fire or the RCMP." The CTV News crew sent through a drone to capture images of the fire before it was extinguished. the staff of the Pan-African Medical and Research Foundation, who provided the volunteers with financial support for attending international meetings.
